ENGLAND WAS READY TO GO WITH FLEETS

Admiralty Officially Announces that Orders Were Sent to Their Squadrons—Czar Sends Apology to King Edward and Quiets Public Feeling.

British Note to Russia Declares that the Firing on the Fishing Trawlers in North Sea Was Inhuman, Unjustifiable and Deliberate.

(Special Cable to The Evening World.)

LONDON, Oct. 25.—As the correspondent of The Evening World cabled yesterday exclusively to America preparations were actually made by the Admiralty for war as soon as the news of the Hull fishing fleet outrage reached London. The information of your correspondent was that the Channel, Home and Mediterranean fleets had been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for an attack upon the Russian Baltic fleet, should such action prove necessary.

That the information was correct is proved by the following bulletin, issued by the Admiralty to-night at the arrival of a telegram of sympathy and regret from the Czar:

"On receipt, Oct. 24, of the news of the North Sea tragedy, preliminary orders for mutual support and co-operation were issued as a measure of precaution from the Admiralty to the Channel, Mediterranean and Home Fleets."

CZAR WIRES AN APOLOGY TO THE BRITISH KING.

(Special Cable to The Evening World.)

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The receipt of a telegram from the Czar to King Edward to-day, expressing his regret for the bombardment of the Hull fishermen by the Baltic fleet and his sympathy with the families of the killed and wounded fishermen has reduced the tension upon the public mind.

Indignation at the deplorable occurrence was becoming accentuated

BLOODHOUNDS AFTER FIREBUG

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The farmers in the northern section of Westchester County are so aroused over the latest work of the firebug who has burned many barns that they have decided to run him down with bloodhounds.

Four barns and two stables on the country place of Hiram Saries, near Croton Lake, were burned last night. It is believed that oil was poured on the outside of one of the barns. During the past year the incendiary has destroyed more than $25,000 worth of property, and though detectives have been employed no clue to the firebug could be obtained.

SHOT FOR KISSING WOMAN AGED 63

Publisher Phillips Objected to Actions of His Aged Wife and Young William O'Connor in His Very Presence.

Dressed in a theatre gown of brilliant red, set off by a large feathered picture hat, her high-heeled tan shoes and short curly hair, part yellow, part gray, giving her an almost ludicrous appearance in view of her sixty-three years, every one of which shows itself in her face, Mrs. Louise Phillips stood in the Yorkville Police Court to-day.

Beside her was her husband, Wolf Phillips, a directory publisher, and a diminutive man with little side whiskers of gray, whom she vehemently denounced for having put a bullet through William O'Connor, a burly young man, whose only offense, she said, was "allowing me to be a sort of mother to him."

All night Mrs. Phillips had walked the floor of her cell in the East Thirtieth street station-house, wringing her hands and insisting that somebody come to her and tell her how "Will" was getting along.

"Is he badly hurt? Is he dying?" she wailed from time to time. Only the constant assurances of the matron that he was doing as well as could be expected would comfort her. "Will" is O'Connor, who is really in a dangerous condition in Bellevue Hospital, and he was shot because he not only had made himself the constant companion of Mrs. Phillips, to the entire exclusion of her husband, but overstepped the line last night by making love to the old woman right before the eyes of her husband.

Phillips had stood a lot, but this was too much, and he whipped out a pistol. O'Connor pulled one out, too, and eight shots were exchanged, but just what the police had not yet been able to determine.
